

Unwind/City AhmedabadMirror Friday, July 19, 2024 6

UNWIND To feature an event on this page, send the details and photos to: ahmedabad@rediffmail.com or WhatsApp on: 96332 88857

AHMEDABAD SPEAKS and gets heard on this page
STORY BEHIND THE PHOTO

Internationally acclaimed artists share vision for the future

Creating bonds of love
Raksha Bandhan may be a month away but preparations for the festival have already begun with these women at the Ansh Kanya Prakash Gruham in Gandhinagar for work.

TAP THE CHATTER where Ahmedabad speaks their mind
About 25,000 job aspirants rushed to Mumbai airport to get interviewed for 2,800 spots. Do you think it's due to unemployment or just another Indian phenomenon?

Several contributory factors
It is important to note that the phenomenon of job seekers rushing to Mumbai is not unique to only India. It is also observed in other countries with similar economic and demographic conditions. The continued high rate of unemployment in India is a combination of factors including rapid population growth, uneven regional development, job market competition, and educational mismatches.

Jobs are dwindling
The high unemployment rate in India is a reflection of the job market's inability to absorb the growing number of graduates entering the workforce. The disparity between the number of job seekers and available positions is the primary reason for the unemployment crisis.

SHARE YOUR THOUGHTS
The state government on Thursday announced that Chandrapur's annual testing will henceforth be conducted locally (Page 2 report). Do you think the state govt wanted to reduce the burden on the central government or has it been a long time since the testing was conducted locally? If you want to be featured in this section, mail us your answer by 12 noon today, with 'Tap The Chatter' in the subject line. Mail us at: ahmedabad@rediffmail.com or WhatsApp on: 96332 88857 in the format: Name, age, area, occupation/profession, and contact number. Your address will not be used to share your views in Ahmedabad Mirror's Official Facebook/Twitter Handles.

International Theatre Festival for Children
The 10th edition of the AIC International Theatre Festival for Children commenced on Thursday with a bang when over 100 kids opened the first day. The first show, 'Yes, quite literally!' Organized by Nandini Foundation in collaboration with Sam and Me, the first day saw 3rd year students of theatre artists present 'Ripley's AI' - a story revolving around a lonely child in a room and his 'father's' new friend. The non-verbal theatre had children grouped to their seats till the last scene. For the next two days, the line-up only gets interesting for kids.

A Hat Seller's Tale (Sri Lanka)
Today 5pm

Pinkobu (Germany)
Tomorrow 5pm

WHEN Rakya Gallery, Mangal Bag, Nr. Park at Garden, Shikhar Nagar, Bk. next to Exa Park Pump, Ellis bridge. ENTRY: By Ticket

AMA! int'l theatre festival begins with a bang

When 19 August, 10.15am to 5pm
Where Park at Garden, Bk. AGD 1903, Near to Exa Park, Ellis Bridge Road
Entry: Open for all

Several contributory factors
It is important to note that the phenomenon of job seekers rushing to Mumbai is not unique to only India. It is also observed in other countries with similar economic and demographic conditions. The continued high rate of unemployment in India is a combination of factors including rapid population growth, uneven regional development, job market competition, and educational mismatches.

Jobs are dwindling
The high unemployment rate in India is a reflection of the job market's inability to absorb the growing number of graduates entering the workforce. The disparity between the number of job seekers and available positions is the primary reason for the unemployment crisis.

Address employment issues ASAP
The ever-rising number of job aspirants at Mumbai airport for a limited number of positions is a reflection of the job market's inability to absorb the growing number of graduates entering the workforce. The disparity between the number of job seekers and available positions is the primary reason for the unemployment crisis.

But where is the skill
This is more about lack of skill-based education, as per industry standards, rather than unemployment. There are many jobs in the industry that require specific skills. If you are not skilled enough, you are not skilled enough to compete for those jobs. In fact, official data shows that there is a shortage of many jobs in the last two years and there are many openings available.

Jobs seekers should upskill
The high unemployment rate in India is a reflection of the job market's inability to absorb the growing number of graduates entering the workforce. The disparity between the number of job seekers and available positions is the primary reason for the unemployment crisis.

Shresh Thakkar, profession at

Rohan Noronha, profession at

K. Nathani, academics at

Harsh Janti, healthcare profession at

Shresh Thakkar, profession at